FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL,

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 4.

The tendency of the stock market toward higher prices noticeable since the beginning of the present week was increased to-day. The market distinctly broadened. Here-tofore the strength has been confined to one stock and another, successively, and bearish operators have claimed that it was due to an artificial attempt to stimulate prices. To-day, however, the market was unmistakably strong from one end of the security list to the other, and an undis-Special Rates of Interest Allowed.

Testimony as to the naturalness and spontancity of the advance was negatively furnished by the fact that the storm in the West practically destroyed communication between Wall Street and the greater portion of the country. Nearly all the private wires used for Stock Exchange purposes running between this city and the large cities in the interior were reported as disabled. The buying of the day, therefore, was confined to local clients of Stock Exchange houses or to those living in the East. The market opened under the immediate influence opened under the immediate inhuence of the stories in the morning newspapers of some sort of a combination or "deal" between the Rock Island, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads. Official corroboration of these stories was not forthcoming, although it was admitted in authoritative quarters that there was some substantial foundation for them. The majority of speculators were not, of course, willing to add very materially to their holdings of the various securities affected by the proposed arrange-ment on such vague and indefinite information. The news, however, was clearly not of a nature to encourage operations for a decline in prices. The impression prevailed during the day among those competent to form a correct judgment in the matter that the combination referred to was probably no more than the settlement of a traffic arrangement between the Union Pacific and the Rock Island systems similar to that which has already been agreed upon between Union Pacific and St. Paul; and there are those who maintain that a very direct connection is to be traced between this matter, the recent buying of the St. Louis & San Francisco shares, and the hostility that has been excited in powerful eastern railroad circles to the attempts of the Gould interests to force their lines to the Atlantic seaboard.

The news of the day was unimportant Diplomatic negotiations over Venezuela loomed up a little more hopefully. Assurances were received that the conferences between the bituminous coal workers and their employees on the question of wages would result satisfactorily to all concerned, and another advance was made in the price of copper. The latter fact was naturally of most interest to the stock market in Boston, where the copper stocks are chiefly dealt in and where an old-fashioned upward movement in copper shares seem to be under way. The broad-ening character of the market was disclosed in the afternoon. The various Reading issues, Illinois Central, Pacific Mail. Southern Pacific, Sugar, the Lead stocks, St. Paul, and many others advanced rapidly. Traders were perhaps inclined to pay more attention to the movement in AQUEDUCT COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE.

the milder weather was revealing the injury to the crop. It is pointed out that the season in that e-unity has been warm for winter and very wet, just such weather as would make a tender plant. At one time there was a reaction on realizing a sluggish cash trade and reports of an easier market at Chicago but later on prices again moved upward on buying for both accounts. There was a little foreign buying but the trading was mostly local. Statistical returns from the West were locompiete. Chicago received only 4 cars none of contract grade. The seaboard receipts were 188,000 bush, and the clearances 210,000. Corn was dull, but firmer owing to bad weather for the movement, the firmness of wheat light offerings and covering. There was a pretty good cash demand, the seaboard receipts were 563,000 bush, and the shipments 518,000. Freight room for about 400,000 bush, was taken, mainly, it is said, for shipments from this port. Chicago received 126 cars, 1 being of contract grade. The cables were lead, higher to 4d, lower. Oals were quiet and featureless. Chicago received 85 cars. The seaboard received 124,000 bush, and cleared 10,000.

The scaboard received 124,000 bush, and cleared 10,000.
